        2) Acc to Suktankar: Andhras= Andhra Brithyas; means they are not Andhras but servants/feuds of Andhras & later became independent
        3) This opinion seconded by Roy Chaudary & Srinivasa Sastry

OSC Group

4) Satavahanas- ruled during Andhras, So Puranas might have mentioned them as Andhras told by Roy Chaudary

12. Satavahanas are Andhras. Arguments:
A. Dr. K. Gopala Chari says: Satavaahans home place may be Andhra but in early age estbd kingdom in MH & ruled from MH later from GPS & his son Pulomavi-II might have won over Andhra & ruled from there
B. Early Inscs & Coins of Satavahanas found in MH. Gautami Balasri's Nasik insc had no Mention of "Andhra"

AP HIS- UNIT 4

Origin & Growth of Andhra Movement:

1. Andhra was united during the rule of Satavahanas & Kakatiyas, Qutubshahis. Became part of Nizams during Nimal-ul-mulk rule who declared independence from Mughals in 1724. Andhra was divided during the rule of Nizam Ali Khan (1762-83)
2. In 1801- Lord Wellesley, United Karnataka, Andhra Areas & merged in Madras Presidency
3. 5 Phases of Struggle to form separate state:

Beginning Phase (1903-12):	1. 1903- Yuvajana Navya Sahithi Samithi (Guntur)—for the 1st time discussed the need for separate Andhra State 2. Unnava Lakshmi Narayana, Jonnavithula Gurunatham: Showed a map showing Telugu ppl from Nizam, Madras state & Madras Central province 3. In 1910: Vignana Chandrika Mandali published "Andhrula Charitramu"(History of Andhras- by Chilukuri Veerabhadra Rao) novel, which became popular 4. A series of six articles to The Hindu on "the present position of the Telugu people" were published 5. Deshabhimani newspaper, in a big editorial of three columns strongly urged a separate political conference of the Andhras in order to create solidarity among the Telugu people and to discuss their special wants. 6. Hindu & Desaabhimaani newspaper tried to bring awareness in Telugu people for separate Andhra State. 7. Desabhimaani Newspaper: "The Telugu talent is fast dying out. It is the duty of the government to see that it does not become extinct ere long. It can be nurtured only when the Telugu people are placed under a separate government" 8. C. Seshagiri Rao made a forceful plea for the creation of a separate Andhra province. In a series of articles to Deshabhimani, he pointed out the importance of language in the development of a race. a. Language is the vehicle of thought. A common language helps the free flow of ideas among men and unites them in a common bond of love and attachment b. The growth of good literature in a language is simultaneous with the progress of the people speaking the language c. The Andhras laboured under a double disadvantage. The British officers who ruled over them had very little knowledge of Telugu. Their subordinates, mostly non-Telugus, had very little acquaintance with the Telugu language or the people. d. The most essential thing is to have a separate province for the Telugus and locate the capital in the Centre of the Telugu district 9. Nidaduvolu meeting (1912): The subject of the formation of a separate Andhra province came up for consideration, for the first time, at the joint conference of Godavari, Krishna and Guntur districts held at Nidadavolu in May 1912 under the presidency of V. Ramadas

OSC Groups

1) One of the delegates to the conference, C. Narasimha Rao, felt that a subject of importance to all Andhras should not be discussed at a sectional conference.
2) He felt that an Andhra Conference, representative of all the Telugu districts of the Madras Presidency, should be convened. His suggestion was accepted by many delegates, including Konda Venkatappaiah,

10. Konda Venkatappaiah discussed the subject with other important local leaders like V. Bhavanacharyulu, U. Lakshmi Narayana, C. Seshagiri Rao and J. Gurunatham
11. Decided to convene an All India Conference of the Andhras.
12. A standing committee @Guntur with Konda Venkatappaiah as Secretary was formed to take the required steps in that direction. The Committee decided to hold the first Andhra Conference at Bapatla in May 1913.
13. Krishna Patrika felt that the time had not arrived to launch an agitation for a separate Andhra province as there was mutual ill feeling between Telugu and Tamil officials
14. The Desamatha discussed the question whether Andhra could be constituted as a separate province and answered in the affirmative. It felt that Andhra may not get a separate province at once, but wanted that they should persevere in their attempts for there was nothing is impossible for the perservering people
15. The Hindu did not support the movement as "there are already too many walls of separation forbidding unification among the India peoples"
16. Even among the Andhras, there were some who did not cherish the prospect of having a province of their own. Nyapati Subba Rao, opposed the demand as he felt that the proposed Andhra province would be a small one, headed by a Chief Commissioner. He declared: "I, for one, would not care to have the new province under a Chief Commissioner and I should prefer to be under the present form of Government with Governor in Council. He further felt that the creation of the Andhra province would lead to similar demands by other linguistic groups
17. Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya countered the arguments of Subba Rao and declared: I, for one, would prefer to be under a Chief Commissioner like Sir Henry Cotton, Lieut. Governor like Sir John Hewett, Sir Anthony MacDowell or Sir James Meston, as against a Governor like Lord Landhurst or Sir Arthur Lawley. He also welcomed the creation of provinces for other linguistic groups. He felt that "the future map of India will indeed have to be recast
18. The Joint Secretaries of the Standing Committee issued a circular in September 1912 listing the subjects that might be considered at the Andhra Conference. The circular contained non-controversial subjects like
    1) Starting of an English daily to promote the interest of the Andhras,
    2) Establishment of a separate university for the Andhra districts,
    3) Representations to the Government to lift the ban on the enlistment of the Telugus in the army

OSC Groups

	4) Did not make any reference to the creation of a separate Andhra province. 19. Newspapers which strengthened the demand for separate Telugu state: Andhra Patrika by Kasinathuni Nageswara Rao from Bombay. Krishna Patrika by Konda Venkatappaiah, editor- Mutnuri Krishnarao from Machilipatnam
Promotional Phase (1913- 1920): 4 goals of Andhra Mahasabhas— • Andhra state • Andhra University, • Development of Andhra language & Andhra Traditions	Andhra Mahasabhas A. 1st Andhra Sabha (1913, May 26): @Bapatla. 1. Headed by B.N.Sharma. He told that we are Indians first & then Andhras 2. BN Sharma examined the question of formation of a separate Andhra province and felt that, at least for the time being, the agitation might do more harm than good. 3. V. Ramadas proposed a resolution demanding the formation of a separate Andhra province. This was opposed by like N. Subba Rao, M. Adinarayanaiah and M. Ramchandra Rao. They felt that the demand for separate Andhra was premature 4. The resolution was amended to the effect that the subject might be taken up for consideration at the next conference. 5. The conference revealed that the delegates from Rayalaseema (western districts) and northern districts of Ganjam and Visakhapatnam were not so keen on the formation of a separate province. 6. So a committee consisting of Konda Venkatappaiah, Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya, M. Krishna Rao, Editor, Krishna Patrika and V. Suryanarayana Rao toured Rayalaseema and addressed public meetings at Nandyal, Gooty, Anantapur, Bellary, Chittoor, Cuddapah and Nellore 7. Konda Venkatappaiah toured the northern districts and addressed public meetings at Berhampur, Visakhapatnam, Kakinada and Rajahmundry. 8. After the first Andhra Conference at Bapatla, the subject of the formation of the separate Andhra province came for consideration at several district conferences. 9. At the district conference of Visakhapatnam, the President, M. Suryanarayana of Vjayanagaram, spoke in favour of it. 10. Gade Raghava Rao of Berhampur, who presided over the Nellore district conference, advocated a more cautious policy. Raghava Rao was anxious about the future of his

1. Headed by Konda Venkatappaiah
2. The opponents of separate Andhra were determined to defect the resolution on the Andhra province
3. Fearing that the resolution would be defeated by the sheer numbers of one district, Harisarvothama Rao proposed that voting should be district wise, one vote being given to each district.
4. The opponents of a separate province met separately at the town hall and passed a resolution that a separate province would be desirable only if Madras city was included in it.
5. B. N. Sarma and other leaders succeeded in removing the misunderstanding of the dissidents (In this meeting, ppl got divided into 2 groups. B.N.Sharma tried to unite them)

He urged the Mahasabha to send a deputation to Montagu his visit to Madras to impress upon him fee need for the early formation on of Andhra province. 5. By another resolution, the Mahasabha demanded reservation of seats to non-Brahmins in fee Madras Legislative Council. This was done to remove the suspicions entertained by many non-Brahmins that Home Rule would benefit only the Brahmins Deputation to Montagu: 1. In his declaration of 20 August, 1917, Montagu made it clear that one purpose of his visit to India was to receive the suggestions of the representative bodies and others regarding constitutional reforms in India. 2. But the Govt of Madras declined permission to the Andhra Mahasabha and the District Association of Godavari and Krishna to wait in deputation to Montagu. 3. This infuriated the Andhra public and they sent a large number of telegrams to Montagu protesting the action of the Madras Government. 4. Ultimately, the Government yielded and on 20 December, 1917, a 27 member Andhra delegation, under the leadership of Nyapati Subba Rao, met the Secretary of State and the Viceroy. 5. It requested the Secretary of State to concede the Andhra demand for the immediate formation of Andhra province from the Telugu districts of the Madras Presidency. But no Andhra could find a place in the Working Committee. 3. There was strong opposition from the Tamils to the discussion of the Andhra province question in the session→ convinced the Andhras of the need to reduce the influence of the Tamils in Andhra affairs 4. N. Ekambara Aiyer of Nandyal carried on the propaganda that the question of the formation of Andhra province should not be left for the decision of Andhra alone, but it should be taken up for consideration at the Madras Provincial Conference to be held at Nellore in May 1915. The Provincial Conference, however, did not take up the subject into consideration. 5. The 4th session of the Andhra Mahasabha resolved to bring the matter (for securing a separate Congress circle) before the All India Congress Committee. 6. AICC at its meeting held at Lucknow on 30 December, 1916, referred the question of creating a separate circle for Andhra and Sindh to the Provincial Congress Committees of Madras and Bombay, respectively. 7. V. Rangaswami Ayyangar supported it ○ But it did not receive the support of even non-official members like M. A. Jinnah and V. S. Srinivasa Sastri. ○ Jinnah felt that Sarma wanted to gain cheap popularity among his people by moving the resolution. ○ Srinivasa Sastri conceded that Andhra had a strong case for a separate province, but he objected to the resolution as it wanted a general reconstitution of provinces of the whole country. ○ Surendranath Banerjee felt that the time was not opportune to form the linguistic provinces. ○ Tej Bahadur Sapru said that he would have supported the resolution if it had been confined only to Andhra province. ○ Sri Vikrama Dev Varma, the Maharaja of Jeypore, who presided over the Visakhapatnam Conference, in the course of his address observed: "Though I am not an Andhra by birth the Andhra country and the Andhra language are like foster mothers to me. the Andhra movement has, my warmest and most cordial sympathy. The recognition by the Indian National Congress of the claims of the Andhra Desa to a separate provincial organisation is in itself a happy augury for the future" ○ N. 5. 1st Visaalandhra Mahaasabha: 1950 Feb 12-13 @ Warangal. Prez: Hayagreevachaari. T.Prakasam from Andhra attended it
6. 2nd Visaalandhra Mahasabha: 1954 Jan 13-14 @Hyd. President: Sri Sri. Telangana would be developed if Visaalandhra is formed told by Swami Ramatheerthananda

SRC Report- Recommendations: Commission submitted its report on 30th Sept, 1955

1. The Commission recommended the disintegration of the Hyderabad State. People agreed to division of Hyd.
2. Some ppl opposed it as this would dilute the culture of Telangana→ This report supported the Hyd division (divide ppl acc to the lang they speak—Marathis to MH, Kannadas to Mysore state, Telugu to Andhra)
3. Advantage of Visaalandhra formation:
   a. The advantages of a large Andhra State including Telangana are that it will bring into existence a State of about 32 million with a considerable hinterland, with large water and power resources, adequate mineral wealth and valuable raw materials.
   b. This will also solve the difficult and vexing problem of finding a permanent capital for Andhra, for the twin cities of Hyderabad and Secunderabad are very well suited to be the capital of Visalandhra.
   c. Development of the Krishna and Godavari rivers will thereby be brought under unified control
4. Regarding Telangana:
   a. Telangana has in years of scarcity a sizable deficit in food supplies. The existing Andhra State however, has normally a surplus which Telangana may be able to use.
   b. The existing State of Andhra, likewise, has no coal, but will be able to get its supplies from Singareni.
   c. Telangana will also be able to save a great deal of expenditure on general administration in case it is not established as a separate unit
   d. The existing Andhra State has faced a financial problem of magnitude ever since it was created; and in comparison with Telangana, the existing Andhra State has low per capita revenue.
   e. Telangana on the other hand is much less likely to be faced with financial embarrassment. some The much higher incidence of land revenue in Telangana and an excise revenue of the order of Rs. 5 crores per annum principally explains this difference.
   f. Andhra- low percapita revenue, TG-Higher incidence of land revenue; higher excise revenue (upto 5Cr/annum)→As a result no benefits to TG
   g. When plans for future development are taken into account Telangana fears that the claims of this area may not receive adequate consideration in Visalandhra Ex: Nandikonda & Kushtapuram (Godavari) projects
   h. Principal causes of opposition of Visalandhra also seems to be the apprehension felt by the educationally backward people of Telangana that they may be swamped and exploited by the advanced people of the Coastal area. In the Telangana districts outside the city of Hyderabad, education is woefully backward

i. The real fear of the people of Telangana is that if they join Andhra, they will be unequally placed in relation to the people of Andhra and in this partnership the major partner will derive all the advantages immediately

5. Final Conclusion:
   a. After examining the case of Visalandhra and separate Telangana, the Commission felt that "the advantages of the formation of Visalandhra are obvious"
   b. Telangana area is constituted into a separate State, which may be known as, the Hyderabad State, with the provision that its unification with Andhra after the General elections likely to be held in or about 1961, if by a 2/3rds majority the legislature of the residuary Hyderabad State expresses itself in favour of unification.
   c. The State of Hyderabad to be constituted for the time being, should consist of the following districts, namely, Mahubnagar, Nalgonda, Warangal including Khammam, Karimnagar, Adilabad, Nizamabad, Hyderabad, Medak and Bidar and the Munagala
